Marvellous Moments with Mrs Karam

Stay tuned for the next newsletter where I will share my visit from 4 different classes.

Khmer – K-2 with Miss Reach

In week 6, I visited our K-2 Khmer group with Miss Reach. The group were learning about significant sites and places in Cambodia. Miss Reach challenged the students to complete a directed drawing of a significant site called Ta Prohm in Angkor Wat. It was great to be able to visit this wonderful group of students.

Class 4Havelka

Last week I visited class 4 Havelka and I was able to participate in reading groups. I had lots of fun visiting the students and the students had just returned from camp so I enjoyed hearing stories of their adventure. During reading groups the students were able to use different roles including predicting, clarifying and questioning to work together to summarise the text. I was very impressed with how well the students collaborated and helped each other. Well done 4 Havelka!

Class 1Tilba

I have been lucky enough to visit 1Tilba 3-4 times a week to help them with reading. During my visits I am able to read with lots of different groups and we are focusing on our ability to decode various words. I'm so proud of the effort each person in 1Tilba puts into their reading. I have already seen so much growth. Thank you for letting me be part of your learning.

Attendance Reminders

This term, our school has implemented a range of incentives to celebrate, recognise and promote daily attendance. The students are really excited about this and can clearly articulate why coming to school is important and why it is equally as important to school on time (9:00am). Students are rewarded with;

- Randomly drawn canteen vouchers for 100% weekly attendance
- Whole class prizes if their class has regular, high attendance
- Termly attendance awards for 95%-100% attendance
- Whole school end of term attendance celebration (we had the ice cream truck to celebrate high attendance in Term 1).

We will continue to work with students and families to encourage daily attendance and ensure that we are promoting the high standard of at least 95% attendance each term and across the whole year.

A friendly reminder to keep children at home if they are not well. Unfortunately, we all fall ill at certain times during the year and it is always best to stay at home to rest and ensure that we are doing our best to minimise the spread.

The visual below displays the percentages of attendance and the weeks and days of learning missed. For example, if we are all aiming for 95% attendance, the 5% of time that we are not school adds up to nearly 2 full weeks of missed learning. This is a lot of valuable time which is missed! We emphasise the importance of 'Every Day Counts' as a couple of days off per term all adds up.

Days off school add up to lost learning		every school day matters ✓
100% attendance	0 weeks of learning missed	Best chance of success - well done! ✓
95% attendance	1 week, 4 days of learning missed
90% attendance	3 weeks, 4 days of learning missed	Poor attendance, I'm worried ?
85% attendance	5 weeks, 3 days of learning missed
80% attendance and below	At least 7 weeks, 3 days of learning missed	Very poor attendance, I'm seriously concerned ✗

New Arrivals Visit to Sydney Zoo

In Week 4, Mrs Fereday, Mrs To Diep and Mrs Signoretti took a group of our Newly Arrived Vietnamese students to Sydney Zoo. It was such a rich and engaging experience as the students got to get up close with many animals they had never seen before, order their lunches from the cafeteria, navigate the Zoo's map, as well as help direct Mrs Fereday as she drove the school bus. It was such a fun-filled day that many of the students fell asleep on the way home! The students have been working on interest-based projects related to their zoo experience. Many teachers have been able to view some of their outstanding zoo writing which is on display in the front office. We are very proud of the exceptional manners which all students displayed whilst they were visiting the zoo.

From Mrs Lu

There are some Marvellous Mathematicians in 3 Harding! I visited them to see their work in problem solving and addition and subtraction. Students were using a range of strategies including bridging, levelling and compensation.

In Year 3, students are learning to use a different mental and written strategies when solving 2 and 3-digit problems. How many different ways could you solve  $78 + 89$ ?

* * *

Visiting Year 4 Chinese RFF with Mrs Zheng was a wonderful experience for me and I even learnt how to speak Mandarin! They were teaching me the names of different ball games and verbs associated with playing them. Do you know what this means?

我喜欢打网球

Wǒ xǐhuān dǎ wǎngqiú

At Lansvale Public School, we embrace our cultural diversity and acknowledge the importance of allowing students to maintain their home language by offering Language classes including Chinese, Vietnamese and Khmer.

I had the pleasure of visiting 1Noosa to see them during Mathematics – my favourite subject!

1 Noosa have settled so well with their new teacher Mrs Henry.

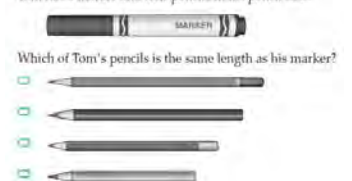

To review prior learning, students were confidently counting different arrangements by 2s which made it quicker to reach the total than counting by 1s!

Next, they solved problems involving length (how long or short something is) by carefully reading through the question and seeing which option was correct.

Finally, they got to work with adding and subtracting by using their knowledge of number lines, partitioning, number bonds and place value! Keep up the great work 1 Noosa!

Maths with Mrs Chau

I had the privilege of visiting 2 Dingo and 5 Juukan for mathematics. Both classes were using various strategies to add and subtract numbers. In Year 5, students were adding and subtracting 3-digit numbers. Tarkan and Julius were enthusiastic students who were eager to hear the various ways a number problem could be solved. I loved how they questioned why I preferred one strategy over another and explained why they preferred various methods. They gained a better understanding of levelling and why and when it was useful.

I also worked with some bright Year 2 students who were adding and subtracting two 2-digit numbers in their heads! They then demonstrated what their brain was thinking in their books. It was amazing to see Kaylani, Luca and Katrina so articulate when they explained their methods. Their rationale for their strategies was amazing to hear. We ended the lesson with the game 101 and out. They were so excited that they have invited me back to come and play with them!

Thank you 5 Juukan and 2 Dingo for such a warm welcome in your classrooms.

Weeks 6 & 7 PBL FOCUS

Be determined to sit and finish eating in the playground before going to the field.

The field is not a place to eat,
If there's food in your hand, take a seat.

Eat on the seats or the concrete ground,

Food on the field means rubbish and mess,
And also attracts more vermin and pests.

No deal!

PROBLEM BUSTERS

Problem Busters are a group of students made up of Student Representative Council members and students who have applied for this position from Year 3 – Year 6.

They are mediators and helpers for children in our school.

At times, younger/older children often need assistance if they cannot work out problems themselves. Our Problem Busters are here to listen and help solve minor disputes.

They have volunteered their lunch time and recess to help those who are in need. If you ever need a Problem Buster, look out for them on the playground wearing an orange vest.

We will begin to introduce our Problem Busters in our Newsletters, make sure you look out for them!

Environmental advocates:

Our environmentally conscious citizens continue to spread awareness of the effects of plastic pollution by creating posters to display around our school environment. We are proud our young advocates are showing respect, empathy, responsibility and accountability for a cleaner and safer planet.

Vocabulary

Our vocabulary of the week is “courageous”, “miniature” and “enormous”. We love hearing about a time our children had to be courageous. Our word conscious learners are drawing and explaining a time they had to face their fears to be brave and courageous. They also used playdough to create an enormous insect, and compared the sizes of two objects as they incorporated their vocabulary words into their play.

Yoga

Our preschoolers enjoy waking up their bodies and their minds by practising yoga and mindfulness every morning. We are practising different yoga poses as well as working on our balancing and breathing skills. Supporting children’s mental health and wellbeing is a new focus in the Early Years Learning Framework version 2. We ensure our children have plenty of opportunities to relax and unwind throughout the day and to be able to identify and express their emotions.

Learning Arabic with Ms Rose

Our weekly language class with Ms Rose this week involved learning about dinosaurs and counting to 5 in Arabic. We are thankful for the time Ms Rose gives to the preschool children. Our children are not only learning language but they are also learning to appreciate culture and diversity.

Why Uluru should NOT be climbed

Uluru is one of Australia's most famous landmark and is known as Australia's heart. It has cultural significance because it is a sacred location to Aboriginal people. This is why Uluru should not be climbed but can be visited by people.

To begin with, Aboriginal people obviously lived here since the beginning. The natural landmark has been formed by ancestral beings during the Dreamtime. It is appalling that people found tourists leaving bins overflowed. Each region of Uluru has been formed by different ancestral beings. Therefore I definitely know that we should never climb Uluru.

In Addition, people are too lazy to walk to the toilets so they go toilet on Uluru!! Not only do they climb it they also discard rubbish on Uluru including used toilet paper and nappies. How would you feel if your sacred land has used toilet paper and nappies this is why I absolutely won't allow people to climb Uluru.

To continue, Uluru is dangerous to climb it is 348 metres 36 people died climbing Uluru, it is sacred to indigenous people. About 140 people climbed Uluru and last was 300 to 500 people. This is why Uluru should never be climbed.

It is absolutely disrespectful to climb Uluru. Tourists think camping along the way is fine but they are actually trespassing on protected land. People keep trespassing by walking over Uluru. How would you feel if your house or something important to you was being walked over. That is why climbing Uluru is definitely wrong!

In conclusion, Uluru is important to indigenous people we can't walk over it like we don't care. I will not let people ruin something important to indigenous people.

National Sorry Day

Their tears were like rainy clouds
But no one was bothered to make a sound.
At least 1000 kids were taken away

No one would care

National Sorry Day Poem

Sorry Day is just a way of saying sorry,
So the Aboriginals don't worry.
This happened because of the stolen generation,
So we have this for commemoration.

The Australians were very mean,
You could mistake this for a dream.
The sharp spears flow,
Like exploding mountain dew.

As the parents were awoken,
The children were taken.
They were quiet as a mouse,
As they were walked out of the house.

Sorry day goes for 8 days,
Every 26th of May.
So you know this devastation,
is certainly not a celebration.

National Sorry Day

It is time to acknowledge the stolen generation,
And prepare ourself for commemoration. Handcuffs grabbed the children's wrists,
So they were defenceless with their fists.

The children were cruelly taken away,
The miserable parents had to stay,
For all the years of worry,
It is finally time to say sorry.

Forced like criminals from their homes,
Crying, screaming and full of moans.
Parents were as angry as an erupting volcano,
They didn't have enough power to say no.

By Liam 3/4P

SORRY DAY POEM

Today came upon a day,
which was the white people's way.
The white people wanted water,
but instead it was slaughter.

The stolen generations are adults now,
the white people should bow.
The miserable parents tears were floating away,
While their children were cruelly taken to this day.

The Aborigines should be grateful to this day, because we literally have Sorry Day.
With a big apology which is sad,
Some aborigines are still mad.

National Sorry Day

National sorry day is for the kids taken away,
Many got upset and began to pray.

All of their hearts were broken and in pain,
For all of them wished for nothing but rain.

Fear grabbed their heart,
As families got ripped apart.

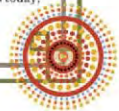

Many people who knew the same thing cried,
As they all knew that they only just tried.

Everyone thought that this was quite tragic,
For this was not at all magic.

They got trapped in a prison of white,
The poor, innocent Aboriginal children just couldn't fight.

As Kevin Rudd says we acknowledge our past mistakes today,
Everyone shouted Hip, Hip, Hooray!

National Sorry Day

Written by: Jayden

May 26th is where people remember sorry day.
It is a sad month as some people say.
Aboriginals are very sad,
Their children are very mad.

The children's tears fell like rain,
as they were taken away and left in the pain.
They became prisoners alone and miserable,
feeling as though they were in trouble.

Nowadays National Sorry day is a Commemoration, to acknowledge the people of Australia's first nation.

The Europeans ruined Aboriginals day, violence, violence is never the way.

Lansvale Sport Legends 2023

On Tuesday the 1st of August all students in Years 3 to 6 travelled to Makepeace Oval by bus for the annual Athletics Carnival. It was an amazing day full of sprinting, jumping and throwing in the winter sunshine. The enthusiasm for these events has never been higher, with record numbers of students participating in the competition. This makes selection for our zone team very difficult, with split second or centimetre differences in the final results. Sporting House spirit is at an all time high with many posters being created by the students and the chants being heard from suburbs away. Congratulations to everyone that had a crack, and to those students that will represent Lansvale Public School at the zone carnival in September.
